WHICH STORE will draw the shoppers? The old and new are sharply contrasted in these photos of a downtown department store in the urban renewal area.

113 With F.M.L.

If you're going to lose, lose to ultimate winners.

This was the case the other day when Tom West, of San Antonio, dusted me in first-round straight sets in Austin, then went on the finals of Men's 35 singles which his doubles partner, George DeLeon, also of San Antonio, won, 4-6, 6-0, 6-1. They won the bracket's doubles title over Bob Whitenton and Chuck Kindle, 6-3, 6-1.

I also lost a second-round match in men's singles to Paul Wiegand, a UofT varsity prospect, 6-1, 6-3.

That was pretty much the day. Some fine tennis players in the field of 300 had matches in Penick Courts, UofT Intramural Courts and Casland Tennis Center.

Dick Landenberger, of Dallas, won the men's singles over Bill Wright, of College Station, 6-4, 6-0. Larry Eichenbaum and Bill Driscoll won men's doubles over Dick King and Landenberger in two tie-breaker sets, 7-6, 7-6.

A number of players from the Waco-Temple-Cameron area moved into the quarter and semi-finals before losing. It is encouraging to see tennis making this impact on Central Texas. Players from the major cities are winning many of the top spots in the big tournaments. The Austin Aqua-Festival Tourney is quite a draw.

Those who may wonder about tennis or any other individual sport might remember such games are useful throughout one's lifetime. The Aqua-Festival tourney had brackets for competition among men and women over 55. Some fine golfers play well beyond 60.

Others may wonder about 113's apparent commitment to winning. It's the way some of us are, and it's the way I learned the game. Back in Indiana, through the support of some fine adult players, the industrial town of Warsaw produced a high school tennis team that lost only one dual match in three years, the 28th or 29th, by one point. This was competition among all size towns and cities, since school boy divisions didn't exist in Indiana.

You can learn how to win or lose gracefully. And you might as well try to be a winner.

Attitude is a lot of winning. Mine wasn't particularly good the other day in the second singles match, and I got waxed. But it was inevitable, in this case, on the first outing of what may be a comeback.

It was, as it is so often in most high schools and colleges and universities, something less than important to be a tennis player instead of a team player. But after the 20 or 21st straight win, you might imagine how team players started looking at us tennis "bums."

I played high school football too. Like hundreds of thousands of others who can say the same thing, I wouldn't dare try to play good football now. But for thousands of others, it is possible to re-enter the tennis world, given a little time.

You might guess I'm going back to an Austin tourney in November. I was invited, and quite nicely.

New Family Planning Clinic To Open Here

A "store front" Family Planning Clinic is scheduled to open in Cameron early in November at 4th and Travis in the building formerly occupied by Schiller Motor Co.

The clinic for Milam County will be part of a three county program financed by HEW and administered by the Central Texas Council of Governments. CTCOG officials said Hamilton, Coryell and Milam Counties will each have a different type of clinic for a 20 month period to determine which service is most effective. Planned are the store front clinic in Cameron, a mobile clinic in Coryell County and a private physician service in Hamilton County.

Mrs. Beatrice Faught of San Saba has been named program director and Mrs. Bess Beene, R.N., will be coordinator. Mrs. Faught met with local doctors Tuesday in Cameron and interviews for two LVN nurses to work in the Milam County clinic are scheduled for September 6 and 7.

The three clinics will operate under a $275,000 grant for the 20 month study period. CTCOG officials said nurses will enter a training program in late September. After the clinics open they will have weekly clinic days as well as home calls to explain the program to local residents.

Dr. C. G. Swift, director of the Milam County Health Unit, said the county has had a family planning program for several years, but that it has been limited to working with referrals from private physicians.

School Board Refuses Maysfield Transfers

Cameron school trustees voted 5-1 to refuse the transfer of ten Maysfield students to Cameron Junior High School in a called meeting Monday night.

The vote was by spreading the ballot.

Supt. D. R. Dodson read the letter from the Maysfield School District asking the Cameron district for "immediate and emergency" transfer of some 10 students in seventh and eighth grade.

Dodson said the letter was received last Thursday but a meeting of the board to discuss the request could not be called until Monday.

The main reason for denying the request was the lateness of the request, the board noted. Supt. Dodson also listed other considerations including discipline problems, civil rights, and the fact that Maysfield is not an accredited school.

He said transfers would have to pass a special test to enter Cameron schools since Maysfield is not accredited.

The question of tuition also came up. Trustees figured that the $125 charged for each transfer student is less than the $175.36 it costs out of local maintenance for Cameron students. They decided that any transfers next year should pay the increased tuition.

Trustees authorized Dodson to write a letter to the Maysfield District explaining the board's decision -- lateness of the request, the school's unaccredited status, and the tuition cost difference.

County School Supt. Max McClaren said the school has enough teachers to handle the enrollment up to eighth grade. He said the two teachers and two aides could handle up to 50 students.

Adult Education Classes To Start

Classes for adult education will begin next week on Wednesday, September 6 at the Cameron Junior High school building. The classes will start at 7 p.m.

Classes will be held on two nights of each week, with the students deciding what nights to meet.

The classes are open to all dropouts and any others who have not completed a high school education.

County Schools Supt. Max McClaren, coordinator for adult education classes, said there is no charge for the courses, and all books and other supplies are free.

Area Schools Enroll 5,718

Sheriff Reports Gunshot Wound

An apparent self-inflicted gunshot wound was reported by Sheriff Carl Black Tuesday afternoon. Black said Robert Turner of Cameron apparently was wounded by a .22 calibre rifle at his home about 4:45 p.m.

Turner was given emergency treatment for a superficial forehead wound at St. Edward Hospital and then was transferred to the Veterans Hospital in Temple.

Milam County and area schools have enrolled approximately 5,718 students, according to figures released by school superintendents. The total is down from last year's 5,988.

In Cameron, Yoe High school enrolled 506, Cameron Junior High 408, Ada Henderson 382, and Ben Milam, including kindergarten 287, for a total of 1583.

Rockdale schools have a total of 1577 with approximately 540 in high school, 405 in junior high, and 632 in elementary, including kindergarten and special education.

Milano High School enrolled 95 with 190 enrolled in elementary and junior high for a total of 285.

Buckholts enrolled a total of 118 with 35 in high school and 83 in kindergarten and elementary.

A total of 466 has been listed for Thorndale Schools. Of this total 162 are in high school, and elementary and junior high enrollment is 303.

No figures were available for Gause and Maysfield schools.

Area school totals include Rogers 630, with 170 in high school and 460 in the other eight grades.

Rosebud - Lott School District lists a total of 1059. There are 214 in primary grades, 165 in Lott Elementary, 183 in grades 4-6 and 499 junior and senior high schools.

3 Charged In Marijuana Case

Three young men are out on bond after being charged in Justice of the Peace court for possession of marijuana Sunday night.

They are Steven Carter, 19, of Waco; Robert McBride, 24, of San Antonio; and Maurice Mikulec, 21, of Buckholts.

The trio were picked up by Highway Patrolmen Milton Wright and Leroy Broadus. They were sitting in a car on the side of Highway 77 about four miles north of Cameron.

The men were placed in Milam County jail and posted bond on Monday.

Changes Planned For Scouts

There will be sweeping changes made in the Boy Scout program beginning September 1, according to Jack Keeton, director of the BSA Scouting Division from North Brunswick, N. J.

Speaking in Temple to nine professional scouters from nine Texas Councils, Keeton explained the changes in the scout program.

One big change will be in the Scout uniform. The pants will have slash pockets and the traditional kerchief is optional. A jaunty red beret or a billed cap may be chosen to complete the outfit.

Speaking of the uniform changes, Keeton said they were only streamlining, but "since some people do judge a book by its cover, we didn't want to turn kids away from scouting because of outdated signs."

One big change in the scouting program will be the inclusion of sports. "Scouting had always discouraged organized sports, in fact we haven't had it for 62 years until now," said Keeton.

"Scouts will do more of the actual running and planning of the troop program," said Keeton, "and each Scout will be able to plan his own course to Eagle Scout by choosing from various options within some of the categories."

Boys in urban areas will be able to earn the cooking badge using a hot plate instead of an outdoor campfire, and the new Scout handbook talks about treating rat bites.

"Family living courses will include instructions for the care of younger brothers and sisters," Keeton said.

Beside the revised handbook, designs of merit badges have been changed, with the 116 merit badges of uniform size. Also badges of office and activity badges will be uniform.

Formerly it took several months to complete the requirements for the Tenderfoot badge. Under the new rules, recognition will be faster because a boy will be presented skill awards -- metal belt loops describing a particular skill -- as he works toward the tenderfoot level, Keeton said.

The new handbook is the "Scout Handbook" instead of the "Boy Scout Handbook," and has directions for all occasions from nosebleed to penetrating city streets and untying drug connections instead of tracking, trailing, starting fires with flint and steel, frostbite and heat exhaustion.

Keeton said the revisions still retain the scouting principles. The basic codes are unchanged and the changes in emphasis are in accord with the original principles set forth by Sir Robert Baden-Powell, founder of the scouting movement.

World And Milam County....

If you notice the "little things", you often get a sense of a larger movement.

Case in point is the places area residents are visiting on vacation and the distances visitors travel to visit them here.

Places like Europe, Mexico, the Rockie Mountain states, Florida, California, The Phillipines to name a few, are frequently mentioned in Herald personals.

It is a decisive commentary on how travel brings people thousands of miles apart together and sends many all over the globe. And they are, as hosts or visitors, somehow connected to Milam County.

Cameron and Milam County are no different from the rest of Texas and the nation. We are part of a smaller world of communication and travel. We are aware that things no longer are provincial in viewpoint, though our relative isolation in distance is a growing advantage even if travel time has reduced it to a negligible problem of getting to and from somewhere else.

A little over two hours away from the four major Texas metro centers, only a few hours from either coast, only a few more from other continents, Cameron and Milam County is as centrally located as any other piece of Texas landscape, and by chance, is centrally located in terms of the east and west coasts.

But with satellites like Copernicus and earlier ones routed through the outskirts of our universe, is it any wonder the world is a smaller place or that your Herald reports your continental travels and carries a feature page called "The World and Milam County?"

Solzhenitsyn Speaks

It takes rare insight and rarer courage for a man to be able to see what is wrong with his country and to speak out against that wrong. We are privileged to be in the presence and times of such a man. The speech Alexander Solzhenitsyn would have delivered when he received his Nobel Prize is now in the public record. He was never able to accept the prize and deliver the speech in Stockholm. It is something to be thankful for that while it cannot yet be printed in Russia itself, it can be printed in the outside world and he himself can continue to live on in Russia--supervised and in some degrees restrained, but still able to go on living in his own home and among his own friends. Everything in such matters is relative. Human freedom is more restrained in Russia today than it was in the later Khrushchev years, but today's restraint is still nothing compared to conditions in the blackest years of the Stalin terror.

Here is how Mr. Solzhenitsyn identifies what happened.

"Russian literature did not cease for a moment, but from the outside it appeared a wasteland. Where a peaceful forest could have grown, there remained, after the felling, two or three trees overlooked by chance."

What happened he likened to "the closing down of the heart of a nation, a slashing to pieces of its memory. The nation ceases to be mindful of itself, it is deprived of its spiritual unity, and despite a supposedly common language, compatriots suddenly cease to understand one another."

It takes even rarer insight to live through eight years in one of Stalin's concentration camps and be able afterward to see beyond the frontiers of Russia itself to what is happening in other lands and what is dangerous where all seems on the surface so much easier and safer. Mr. Solzhenitsyn looks outward and sees a United Nations dominated by the greed and selfishness of the countries that control it, and a whole world infected dangerously by "the spirit of Munich" which he identifies as "a sickness of the will of successful people."

There is the genuine ring of an Old Testament prophet in these words. May they be heeded.

CHIEF 'LAME-DUCK' ON WARPATH

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

DUPES SWALLOW RED DIKE BOMBING CHARGE

SENATOR HUGH SCOTT (Pa.) . . .I am going to introduce into the Record an editor's report by William Randolph Hearst, Jr., from his chief editorial writer, Bill McCullam.

"Mr. McCullam points out that 6 weeks ago Hanoi launched what he calls one of the most diabolic and successful propaganda offenses. Because of the inability of Hanoi to man and service its dikes, it is anticipating that flooding this year will be worse than last. Thus, Hanoi launched an extremely skillful propaganda campaign, and enlisted among others, the perhaps unwitting cooperation of the Swedish Ambassador to Hanoi and various correspondents of European newspapers. He also mentions some Americans who seem to have been gulled into being unwitting advocates of Hanoi's propaganda.

"Mr. McCullam says:

In no time at all the haters of America, and those here at home seemingly willing to act as Communist agents began echoing the enemy claim -- that the U.S. was engaged in a calculated and monstrous crime against millions of helpless people.

"Among those who seem to have been misled by the propaganda -- and who was properly scolded by the President for having been misled -- is the Secretary-General of the United Nations. . .because he should know better. By now I am sure he does.

"It should be pointed out that what the enemy does not admit is that a good portion of the military damage to the dikes unquestionably has been caused by the FALL-OUT OF ITS OWN SAM MISSILES. As many as 500 of these big surface-to-air missiles have been fired at American planes in a single 48-hour period -- mostly missing. WHEN THESE MISSILES RETURN TO EARTH, OFTEN NEAR OR ON DIKES AND DAMS, THEY CAN AND DO CREATE VERY CONSIDERABLE CRATERS.

"Near the end of his letter, Mr. McCullam states;

I repeat what I said in my editorial -- any way you look at it the latest Hanoi propaganda offensive is a masterpiece of successful duplicity.

"I hope Americans will wake up and that there will come home to Americans a realization that Hanoi is using them for its nefarious purposes. . ."

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

Until the International Red Cross is permitted to inspect the prison camps and report factually from Hanoi, any information from that source should be considered a "Gold Brick."

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editar:

The trouble with politicians is that they frequently are too far behind the people.

Take the national conventions. Everybody knew there were going to be demonstrations outside the hall in Miami Beach, had known it for four years, and while there's nothing like a televised confrontation outside the hall to break the monotony of a roll call vote inside, the costs of controling such things are getting out of hand.

As I understand it, it costs the city of Miami Beach at least two million dollars just to provide all the extra police protection, not to mention the cost of hauling in all those buses to form baricades, and with many stores boarded up and closed and hometown people afraid to venture out, it's almost impossible to make a profit out of a convention any more.

But since there seems to be no way around holding one and since any city hereafter is going to think twice before letting one in, and I certainly don't want one held out here on this farm, the thing for the politicians to do is build a permanent convention hall recognizing the facts of life.

Build it, before all states pass zoining laws against it, out on a prairie somewhere, but underground, with fifty-mile-long tunnels leading to it from all directions. Once inside, a delegate couldn't come out till somebody was nominated.

With some of the tunnels only decoys, so a few policemen dressed up to look like delegates could roar in by car, circle around and come out another exit out there on the prairie, demonstrators would be hard pressed to make much of a scene. Oh, it'd be all right for one of the cars now and then to slow down long enough for somebody to stick an ice pick in a tire, and just to keep in the sprit of the thing the tires could be filled with tear gas. The networks are entitled to some consideration in holding up their ratings.

If they're going to continue to hold conventions, politicians have got to wake up to the times we're living in. Everybody except them knows it's no longer practical to hold one out in the open.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

Weevil Damages County Cotton

By Bill McCutchen

The cotton boll weevil was particularly troublesome this year in Milam County and is the prime cause of quite a few fields of cotton not being harvested. The boll worms and tobacco budworms were a problem in places but usually only where late season control was necessary to keep the weevil in check.

Why was the weevil so bad this year? There are quite a few reasons including two mild winters, a late crop harvest in 1971 providing abundant food for the diapausing weevil and some abandoned cotton fields left standing instead of being destroyed early, providing excellent weevil and pink bollworm habitat.

Despite a troublesome insect year excellent yields are being made in many areas.

Wilburn Beckhusen, crops committee chairman, has been advocating a particular early season control program for several years. There have been a lot of converts to this program both on upland and bottom land operations as it has been very effective.

Wilburn plants early using Di-syston treated seed for thrip control. The next spraying comes in the early squaring stage with Guthion to get the overwintered weevil population that is out hibernation at that time. One application of Guthion is usually sufficient and it should be made at pin head size to 1/3 grown square stage.

Wilburn says that the Guthion application must be made before the 1/3 grown squares are present to prevent a second generation of weevils from getting started. This was very true this year as spraying delayed past the 1/3 grown square stage was in weevil trouble early in many areas.

This program, according to Wilburn, gives you one last shot at the bollweevil before he can get a foothold in the spring and keeps weevil populations from building up early.

The second and usually the last insecticide application made is with Cygon. This application is made about a week follwoing the Guthion and its systemic action usually gives fleahopper control for 14 days allowing early fruit set. It is sometimes necessary to make a fleahopper application but usually two well-timed insecticide applications are all that is necessary.

Wilburn says, "in addition to being inexpensive this program has the advantage of getting out of the field early and allowing the beneficials to build up sufficiently to handle the bollworm."

It's hard to knock success and this program has been proven over several years with a lot of Milam County producers. Their good cotton crop speaks for itself again this year.

PECANS

The bumper pecan crop prospects in Milam County have been dampened somewhat by scab, yellow and black aphid damage and stink bug feeding.

These factors coupled with less than adequate moisture in some areas of the county have contributed to nut shedding during August.

Another pest is arriving on the scene that is always troublesome is the hickory shuck worm. This insect tunnels inside the shuck causing a drop in some instances and resulting in shuck adherance to the pecan shell at harvest.

Shuckworm control measures should be initiated as soon as the shell hardens which is about now on most varieties and a second application made at 10-18 day intervals. Materials recommended include Guthion, EPN, or Zolone.

When making your shuckworm spray include a fungicide for scab at the same time. Materials recommended include Dodine, Maneb plus Zinc ion, Du-ter, or polyram. Check all labels for grazing testrictions.

Even with a sizeable "drop" on some trees the pecan crop prospects are still excellent.

DPS Assists Farmers On Equipment Regulations

While many Central Texas farmers and ranchers are preparing for the harvesting season now in progress, many trucks and trailers are being readied for their annual use. Yet many do not now or understand laws concerning these vehicles and their equipment.

Lt. Sherman Collins of the Department of Public Safety recently explained the registration and equipment requirements after many calls for information were received by DPS officials.

"Equipment requirements for these vehicles are somewhat complicated because requirements for lights on farm trucks and trailers are the same as for other commercial vehicles their size," Collins said. He suggested farmers should contact their loca DPS patrolman for details of light and brake requirements.

"But," Collins said, "Registration of farm vehicles is not quite so complicated. A farm truck is a vehicle used by the owner for the transportation of his own agricultural products from his farm or ranch or the transportation of supplies to his farm or ranch."

In addition to this a farm truck may be used by the owner and members of his family as a passenger vehicle for other necessities of the home or family.

When a farm truck is needed to transport a load of larger tonnage than the vehicle is registered to haul, the owner may purchase a short term permit that raises the registered weight of the vehicle to the amount necessary. These short term permits are available for periods of one month, three months, six months or nine months.

These permits allow a farmer to register for the amount of registration needed in peak use periods without buying the maximum registration for the full year. Contact the County Tax Assessor - Collector for information on these permits.

Farm trailers (a trailer designed and used primarily as a farm vehicle) are exempt from registration when the gross weight (traler plus load) of the vehicle does not exceed 4,000 pounds. These light farm trailers (4,000 pounds and under) do not have to display any type of registration.

"A farm trailer weighing in excess of 4,000 pounds gross weight but not exceeding 10,000 pounds gross weight may be registered with the $5.30 farm trailer plate," Collins said. Farm trailers used solely to transport cotton with a gross weight exceeding 4,000 pounds but not more than 15,000 pounds may also be registered with the $5.30 farm trailer plate.

In summary, all farm trailers in excess of 4,000 pounds gross weight must be registered. A farm trailer in excess of 10,000 pounds gross weight and a cotton trailer in excess of 15,000 pounds gross weight must be registered with regular trailer registration in the amount of the actual gross weight. Farm trailers lawfully displaying farm trailer plates are exempt from the annual Motor Vehicle Inspection requirements.

The operators of commercial vehicles, including farm trucks and trailers displaying regular registration, are required by law to carry and display their registration or license receipts upon request to any peace officer.

For further information concerning registration contact the County Tax Assessor-Collector or the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Special Session Due For Insurance Laws

Gov. Preston Smith is expected to call a special session of the legislature possibly in September to reform the insurance laws of Texas, Rep. Dan Kubiak reported in his weekly newsletter.

Kubiak said the governor also indicated to him that he will include the repeal of the controversial trailer brake and light law on farm trailers.

"When new auto insurance rates go into effect in about two weeks," Kubiak said, "young male car driving Texans will get a little birthday present from their insurance agent when they turn 21. Young male drivers used to qualify for reduced collision and liability insurance premiums at age 25, but now they'll also get a small break at age 21. At the same time, rates for young men drivers between ages 16 and 21 will increase slightly."

Donald O'Brien, director of auto insurance for the State Board of Insurance, said the statistics show that drivers in the younger age group cause more accidents, while drivers in the 21 to 25 age group were responsible for fewer than expected.

Extension Has New Ag Program Leader

Dr. E. M. (Ted) Trew, currently assistant director of the Cooperative Extension Service for the University of Kentucky and a former Extension specialist and assistant dean of agriculture at Texas A&M University, on August 28 became state agricultural program leader for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

In making the announcement, Dr. John E. Hutchison, Extension director, said that Trew will fill the position recently vacated by the retirement of A. H. (Fred) Walker.

Trew will provide leadership for a statewide staff of more than 150 Extension agricultural specialists, and will supervise and coordinate their work, Hutchison added.

Could you tell the difference between an AngGal and a Spots? Would you know a Dutch Belt if you saw one; how about a Grotics, or a Hackney?

All these are breeds of cattle, hogs or horses. They're listed in the Livestock Directory published by the Texas Department of Agriculture. If you would like to purchase any of the above breeds plus the better-known breeds you can find breeders and their addresses in the directory.

In all, there are 29 different breeds of cattle, three breeds of goats, 11 breeds of horses, nine breeds of sheep, and 10 breeds of swine from which to choose. More than 2,500 breeders are listed in the directory.

The largest single group is Hereford Breeders with a total of 420 listed; second largest in the cattle category is Charolais with 307 breeders listed.

MILK production in Texas during July totaled 266,000,000 pounds. This is two percent below the July, 1971 production and one percent below the previous month.

Milk production per cow averaged 750 pounds during July. This is 15 pounds below a year earlier and 10 pounds below the previous month.

Nationwide, July milk production is two percent more than a year earlier. Milk production per cow averaged 861 pounds.

SCREWWORM regulations have been modified to give farmers and ranchers more time to get their animals inspected before shipment.

Livestock producers now have 72 hours in which to have livestock inspected and certified free of the parasites before being shipped interstate from the screwworm-infested areas of the Southwest. The time allowed for this previously was 24 hours.

Screwworms continue to be completely out of control throughout the state, and the only relief will come when freezing weather arrives.

COTTON harvesting is picking up momentum throughout the southern half of the state. Early stalk destruction can reduce insect infestation for the next crop year.

The first of a series of stalk destruction dates for the state is August 31 in the lower Rio Grande Valley.

However, cotton producers are urged to destroy stalks just as soon after harvest as possible.

Induced Parturition No Cure-All

Induced parturition, or causing a cow to calve early, is no cure-all for certain calving problems, but it does offer promising possibilities, a Colorado State University animal scientist said here Tuesday.

J. N. Wiltbank, speaking to about 400 persons attending Texas A&M University's 22nd annual Beef Cattle Short Course (Aug. 21-22), said a decision to try induced parturition should not be made hastily. There are serious drawbacks.

"It should be used only when a cow can be watched closely during calving time and for a week after calving," he emphasized.

The process is brought on by injecting hormones known as corticoids into the cow.

Probably the biggest advantage of the system, Wiltbank said, is reduced calving trouble because calves are not as big as they would be if they went the full gestation period. This is especially true in crossbreeding, which sometimes tends to produce extra large calves.

Another factor in favor of induced parturition is that the calving date can be fixed more accurately. Better care of cows and better utilization of labor is the result. Also, there is more time for the cows to return to heat, which increases their chances of becoming pregnant early in the breeding season.

The most persistent problem, Wiltbank emphasized, is a relatively high percentage of retained placentas. A second disadvantage is that calf losses may be increased.

SCS Sets Field Day For Grass

A field day will be held September 13 at the Soil Conservation Service plant materials center at Knox City, State Conservationist Edward E. Thomas announced this week.

The center serves Texas and Oklahoma.

Livestockmen, seed dealers, sportsmen, and others interested in the search for improved plants are being invited to attend the field day.

Harvey Davis of Temple, executive director of the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board, will be the principal speaker.

New grasses, forbs, legumes and other plants under evaluation at the center will be discussed during the day. Some 1200 strains of 325 plants are being grown at the center.

Chief goal of the SCS plant materials work is to find new strains of plants that will solve specific conservation problems. Since livestock and wildlife co-exist on the same land, the search extends to grasses, legumes, forbs and shrubs which have dual values. Such plants are needed by landowners and operators for including in range seeding mixtures, for use in travel lane seedings, in border plantings, or for other uses.

There will be an auction at 6 p.m., with cotton, homemade quilts and other items up for bid.

And the picnic will wind up with a free dance at night with music by Vrazel's Polka Band.

The Marak church is located seven miles northwest of Cameron on Farm Road 2269.

Appetite Pleasers For Labor Day Outings

By Christine Laws

Like a "Last Chance" service station before crossing an open desert, Labor Day signals about the last opportunity for a family outing before bright summer colors change to rich autumn hues.

For your "last chance" summer outing, treat your family to something delicious and satisfying like Turkey Bunwiches. Turkey is among the foods reported plentiful by the Agricultural Marketing Service. Bunwiches are easy to prepare and can be made in advance to take along on picnics for heating on a charcoal grill.

1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup diced celery
1/2 cup diced cheddar cheese
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
Butter or margarine
2 cups coarsley-diced cooked turkey
2 tbsps. chopped chives or onion
1 tsp. chopped pimiento
Salt and pepper to taste
6 hamburger buns

Combine turkey, celery, chives, cheese, pimiento, and eggs. Add mayonnaise and season with salt and pepper. Slice top off each bun and scoop out center. Butter hollows and tops. Fill hollows with turkey mixture.

Replace bun tops and wrap each sandwich in foil. (Store in ice chest or cook place if you're going on a picnic). Heat at 400 degrees in an oven for 15 or 20 minutes. (Or place on outdoor grill for same amount of time being careful not to burn foil. Turn to heat both sides).

Garnish top of each bun with olive, pickle, and carrot curl and then spear with a toothpick. Makes 6 buns.

For a Labor Day backyard get-together, try a Tasty Turkey Salad

1/2 cup chow chow mustard pickles
1/4 cup French dressing
3/4 cup mayonnaise
2 cups finely diced celery
1/2 cup blanched slivered almonds
1 tbsp. grated onion
1 tbsp. vinegar

Combine turkey, diced celery, slivered almonds, walnuts and chow chow mustard pickles. For seasoning, add grated onion and vinegar with salt and pepper to taste. Mix well and toss lightly with French dressing.

Refrigerate mixture in covered dish for about 2 hours. Then just before serving stir in mayonnaise. Serve on bed of shredded crisp lettuce with hard-cooked egg and ripe olive garnish.

"GOODNESS" OF PEANUT BUTTER - There's many a "good" reason for using peanut butter. For instance, there's good flavor, good nutrition, good adaptability to a number of uses.

Consider its versatile cooking virtues. It's good for spreads and snacks, cookies and candy. Reports show plentiful supplies of peanut butter now -- an-

Peanut butter is a well known sandwich ingredient.

So feature this nutritious food in a number of sandwich ideas. Peanut Butter-French Toasted Sandwiches

1/2 cup peanut butter
1/4 cup honey
1/4 tsp salt
2 tbsps. butter
8 slices bread
2 eggs, beaten
1/2 cup milk

Blend peanut butter, honey and salt. Divide mixture into quarters and spread each portion between 2 slices of bread to make 4 sandwiches. Combine egg and milk, and soak sandwiches in mixture,

Melt butter or margarine in baking dish, add sandwiches and bake 40 minutes at 400 degrees F. Turn while baking to brown both sides. Or place sandwiches in buttered skillet and cook slowly on top of range. Serves four.

Cheesy Peanut Butter Gems

1/3 cup peanut butter
1 package (3 oz) softened cream cheese
milk, as desired
1/3 cup of chopped ripe olives
olives, chopped dates, seedless raisins or pickle relish

Blend peanut butter and cheese, adding milk as desired for that just-spreadable consistency. Then fold in the olives, dates, raisins or relish. Makes a superb sandwich spread for sesame seed topped rolls.

Poultry Industry Offers Careers For Graduates

The Texas poultry industry, which contributes more than a billion dollars to the state's total economy each year, is still a firm career field for college graduates in this field.

A survey just finished at Texas A&M University shows that demand exceeds supply for holders of bachelor degrees in poultry science.

Dr. W. B. Krueger, head of the A&M Poultry Science Department, said 29 poultry businesses in the state responded to a questionnaire requesting information on potential need for college graduates.

He noted that a definite majority of the firms currently prefer students with a bachelor of science degree.

The companies could now use 22 graduates, the survey indicated. A need for 34 graduates is predicted for next year, and a figure of 76 is shown for the period 1974-76.

Krueger said his department produced 12 bachelor degree students during the 1971-72 school year.

As for salaries, 43 percent of the companies expect to pay $7,000 to $9,000 a year for the graduate. Forty-five percent put the salary range at $10,000 to $12,000, and 12 percent would prefer to negotiate.

Final figures of cash receipts from Texas poultry and eggs was $220.6 million in 1970, the year for which the latest complete figures were available. Applying an input-output multiplier factor developed by agricultural economists, the receipts flowing into the economy amounted to $961 million.

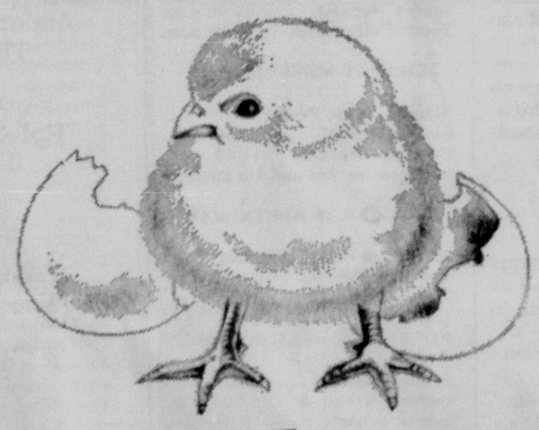
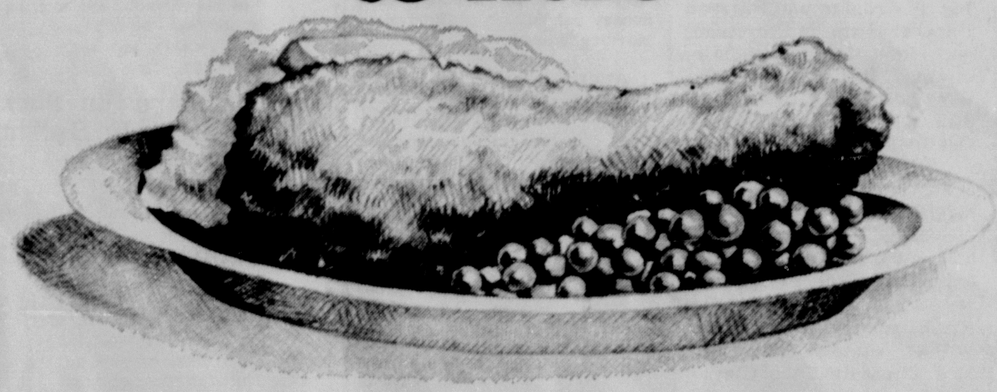
dependable electricity is at work from here



to here



The egg arrives in a laying-house with electrically-controlled environment and the chick is hatched and raised in similar surroundings. Electricity helps the processor do his part with cleanliness and efficiency. Electric refrigeration keeps the chicken fresh in the supermarket and in the home until it's ready to be transformed into a favorite family dinner with an electric range.

TP&L realizes the dependability of its service is essential to many people in many ways... in homes, businesses, industries and agriculture. The Company must be able to deliver all the electric power needed at any given moment. TP&L is doing that even now when air conditioners hum night and day.

And there will continue to be plenty of electricity in the years to come because of the Company's plan-and-build-ahead programs. These programs make certain the facilities, necessary to produce and supply ample power, are ready a step ahead of the ever-increasing demands for electricity.

IT'S A FACT: TP&L is investing millions of dollars each year (more than $100 million in 1971) in new and improved generating plants, transmission and distribution lines and other equipment. Costs of materials, construction and other expenses are rising rapidly, but you can be confident that the Company will continue its efforts to provide dependable service at the lowest possible price.

More than a FRIEND

Did you ever have a pal who was like a second shadow to you . . . a friend who was always there when you needed him . . . someone who laughed with you when you were happy, and comforted you when your turtle died or your puppy ran away?

Our world is a big place, and people, even close friends, can't always stay together. One day you had to say "goodbye" and go your separate ways.

Since then, you've found new friends. You've also found an emptiness, a need, which people alone could not satisfy. We need a goal at the end of life's path and unfailing strength and guidance along the way.

Only God can fill this emptiness.

Only God can be with you the entire length of your path.

And when you reach the end? Only God can take you safely beyond.

Come to church this Sunday. You don't have to walk alone.

Sunday — I John 1:1-10
